JACK JOHNSON TO SURRENDER

BIG BLACK PUGILIST AND GLOBE TROTTER WANTS TO COME HOME AND TAKE HIS MEDICINE

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—If Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion of the world, lives up to his expressed determination to return to this country and surrender himself to the authorities within the next few weeks his action will terminate a long period of wandering through foreign climes. Johnson who had been convicted of violating the Mann act, slipped out of the United States nearly seven years ago. He had been sentenced at Chicago to serve two years and one day in prison and to pay a fine of $1,000 but he forfeited his bail and after evading the Federal authorities, landed in Canada in June 1913.

When Johnson left Chicago he started on a journey which brought him through most of the European and Latin-American countries. During his period of wandering Johnson initiated Russians in the mysteries of wrestling and boxing, appeared in vaudeville in English music halls, fought bulls in Spain and Mexico, lost his championship title to Jess Willard at Havana, Cuba, and took part in over 100 ring fights in several parts of the two hemispheres.

When the war broke out in Europe Johnson and his white wife were in Moscow, Russia. Aided by some military friends the pair secured places aboard the last train leaving Moscow for the west. They passed through Poland and Germany and crossed the Belgian frontier finally reaching Paris. Later Johnson went to England and thence to South America. From Buenos Aires he returned to Spain where he lived for some two years. Last summer Johnson arrived in Mexico via Cuba and up to a few weeks ago was a resident of Mexico City.

His gamut of experiences as a fugitive will soon conclude according to his own statement with a return to the United States as he desires to live at home again no matter what punishment the courts of justice may inflict on him. With this object in view, Johnson is expected to arrive here within a short time from Vera Cruz with the intention of surrendering to the federal officials at Chicago.

WARRANTS FOR BOOZE REBELS ARE REFUSED

MARQUETTE, Mich., Feb. 25.—District Attorney Walker at Grand Rapids has refused to issue warrants for the arrest of the Iron county officers charged with obstructing enforcement of the prohibition law.

Major A. V. Dalrymple, head of the prohibition forces in the central district, ordered the armed invasion of the mining district to proceed and announced he would bring out the men he wants without warrants. He indicated he probably would take prisoners direct to Judge Sessions at Grand Rapids.

That District Attorney Walker apparently is anxious to compromise the case, was indicated this afternoon when he telegraphed Major Dalrymple asking for a conference with the prohibition director at which Prosecutor McDonough could be present and efforts made to settle the case amicably and without legal action.

Major Dalrymple declared that there could be no compromise and that he proposed to "make an example" of the Iron county officials to show the county that the prohibition laws will be respected.

Major Dalrymple will leave Marquette at 3:40 o'clock for Negaunee "regardless of whether or not warrants for the arrest of the Iron county officials are provided," he announced.

Allen School Board Exonerates Willie Cole of Hicks Charge

In Monday's News appeared an article under an Allen date line giving account of the filing of a complaint against Willie Cole, teacher in the Allen Schools, H. H. Hicks on a charge of assault and battery.

Last week, however, the Allen school board took the matter up and made an investigation and report that the charges are groundless and that Miss Cole has been exonerated. County Superintendent A. Floyd, of this city, was invited in and attended the investigation.

It is alleged that the charges are more or less the outgrowth of prejudice against the teacher and the school board finds no ground for the allegations. Mr. Hicks, it is said, did not even appear before the board to substantiate them.

NO SERIOUS RETURN OF FLU ANTICIPATED

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—That America will never experience another influenza epidemic that will take a death toll as heavy as that in 1918-1919, was the opinion of many physicians who gathered in Chicago yesterday for the meeting of the American congress of internal medicine.

The fight against the disease was not won alone by medical science, they said, but through co-operation of the public. Reports on the progress made by medical science in treating influenza during the last year and data on the isolation of the influenza germ will be presented during the six-day session of the body.

EAST CENTRAL ROMPS ON ROFF

LANDED ON THE BUNCH TO THE TUNE OF 27 TO 17 EVEN IF THE ROFF MEN WERE GOOD TOSSERS.

The Normal second team took their Roff opponents into camp last night by the score of 27 to 12. The locals took the lead at the start and were never headed off or seriously threatened. Their passing, dribbling and shooting were clever and they deserved the clan cut victory that they scored.

The Roff team showed spurts of basketball and a lot of speed but were inconsistent and shot poorly. This is the second year that this team has been together and is really one of the strong teams of this district.

Newcomb, Hardy Roach, Tolliver King and Cecil Patterson represented the Normal and played throughout the contest. Their team work was the feature. Newcomb and Tolliver were most consistent scorers but "Tater" came down from guard and flung a couple of fifty ones into the basket. Hardy had poor luck shooting but covered the court in an excellent manner while Patterson was a power at guard. The lineup for Roff in this game was: George Washington, Walter Berry, Auti Watson, Edgar Dixon and Floyd Dorsey.

The East Central regulars will go to Oklahoma City Friday for the closing game of the season with Oklahoma City college. Conn Roach, Newcomb, Sherman, Ingram and Heard will probably start the game there.

Charlie Rayburn refereed the game.

Building Program Is Under Consideration By School Authorities

Superintendent of the city schools J. E. Hickman had as his guests at the Harris Hotel today for lunch the board of Education, the members consisting of L. T. Walters, T. P. Holt, J. H. Collins, W. L. Whitaker and E. C. Hunter. The body went into the matter of erecting new buildings, and decided to call a conference for next Saturday evening at the office of the Board of Education, of the Lions Club and the Chamber of Commerce. At this time the whole matter will be discussed fully and a building program decided upon.

While the members of the board or Mr. Hickman had nothing to say about the plans, it is understood that they favor one of two plans. One of the plans is to erect a high school building in order that the present building may be used for grade purposes. Another plan is to erect another ward school. It is the idea of the board for the citizens to get together on some feasible and most advisable plan and push the matter through.

MUSKOGEE VOTES FOR CITY MANAGER PLAN

MUSKOGEE, Feb. 25.—Muskogee by vote of 2,304 to 1,944 today went on record for a city manager form of government.

The election was bitterly contested. The central labor union having condemned the proposed charter amendment as "un-American."

Election officials at three east side precincts refused to make polls returns and men of both factions stood guard over the ballot boxes until the results were announced by the county election inspector.

W. H. Brinlee Is Injured in Runaway Accident Yesterday

As W. H. Brinlee was driving south on Broadway just in front of the News office yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock, a runaway team of horses came up Broadway from the north at a terrific speed, ran into Mr. Brinlee's buggy, a single rig, demolished the same and in the accident Mr. Brinlee sustained several severe bruises.

The team had on harness, single trees and double tree and as they reached Mr. Brinlee's rig they pulled apart, one going on one side of the buggy and the other going on the opposite side. As a consequence the buggy was caught by the chains and other rigging and demolished. Mr. Brinlee was thrown under the wreckage and dragged several feet on the concrete pavement. Those who witnessed the accident assert that it seemed miraculous that he escaped with his life. It was reported this morning that Mr. Brinlee's injuries would not prove very serious.

SYNDICLISM APPEARS IN FRENCH RY. STRIKE

By the Associated Press

PARIS, Feb. 26th.—Syndicalism threatens to appear in the French railway strike situation which is very grave today. Demands that all railways be nationalized are being made by strike leaders who continue their effort to stampede all railroad workers in the country into the strike which began with the walkout of the employees of the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean systems. In the provinces the movement is looked upon as revolutionary by many authorities, according to the Echo de Paris.

All arrangements to insure the delivery of food supplies to this city have been made by the government and municipal officials have taken similar steps.

BOOZE REBELLION HAS QUIETED DOWN

THE ARMED FORCES OF FED-ERAL AND STATE AGENTS ARE WITHDRAWN FROM IRON RIVER LOCALITY.

By the Associated Press

IRON RIVER, Mich., Feb. 26.—The armed forces of federal agents under demands of Major A. V. Dalrymple who came here from Chicago "to put down a liquor rebellion in the upper Michigan Peninsula" today had been withdrawn and the "revolt" itself had died out. The only casualties were nine barrels of home made wine taken by revenue agents from the house of a Parish priest where the state had stored it for safekeeping.

Major Dalrymple's intention to arrest states attorney McDonough and county and Iron River officials as pertaining to the "rebellion" was abandoned under orders of C. S. Kramer, national prohibition officer who desires the withdrawal of the invaders.

McDonough and Dalrymple held a conference in the lobby of a hotel here yesterday. Mutual accusations of "grand standing" and "publicity seeking" were made and McDonough threatened to arrest the major and put him in jail if he made a move to "start something." There were many witnesses to the conference among whom was the chief of police of Iron River who held a warrant for Dalrymple's arrest. The warrant, however, was carried on in anger but at its conclusion McDonough and Dalrymple posed side by side for the camera man.

State Supreme Court Sustains Injunction Against MacThwaite

Several months ago the Mac Thwaite Oil & Gas Co., of this city, arbitrarily raised the gas rates from 25c to 35c per thousand and mayor Gary Chisholm immediately filed an injunction suit in the district court before Judge J. W. Bolen, asking that they be enjoined from making the raise.

The case went to trial at a later date and Judge Bolen granted the injunction, but the MacThwaite company appealed to the state supreme court, where the case has rested until the present time.

The mayor informs us today that the supreme court has passed upon the matter and has sustained the action of Judge Bolen in the district court. When interviewed this morning and asked just where this placed the matter Judge Bolen stated that it placed it back in his jurisdiction and that the MacThwaite company would be compelled to immediately revert to the 25c rate or go to jail.

This is a far reaching decision and one that will be welcomed by the whole people of the state in view of the past action of the corporation commission in riding roughshod over the wishes of the people. This is going to prove a wonderful saving to the gas consumers of the city in the future. The decision does not retroact but the gas company will be compelled to revert to the old rate at once.

Roddie Memorial Service Postponed Until May Second

Arrangements had been made to hold a memorial service in honor of the late Capt. W. L. Roddie at the First Methodist Church on Sunday March 7, under the auspices of the local camp Confederate Veterans, but the same has been postponed until Sunday, May 2.

The postponement was made for the reason that the regular memorial service of the veterans falls on the latter date and it has been decided best to combine the two services into one on that date.

Tom C. Waldrep, speaker of the house, signed the resolution at 5:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon and sent it at once to the senate which had waited for it the greater part of the afternoon. It was read for the first time in the senate before that body recessed for the day.

Twelve Negative Votes
Those voting in opposition to the resolution as brought up without the emergency clause, were Representatives Barry, Cheatham, Crawford, Fitzgerald of Kiowa county; Gill, Johnson, Kenton, Morris, Newman, Parkinson, Pryor, and Smith of Bryan county. Those absent were Representatives Duffy, Gibson, Glasco, Stevenson, Ticer, Trimble, Woodward and Henry. The latter although numbered in the total elected membership of 104, has resigned from the house.

The Normal School Observes National Song Week Chapel

East Central did her share in observing National Song Week at chapel this morning. The Home Economics classes decorated the stage with flowers and carnations which gave everything a pleasing appearance.

Miss Keller gave a short talk on our national songs and folk songs. With Miss Francisco at the piano and Miss Keller as leader, the students sang Nearer My God to Thee, Home Sweet Home, Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground, Carry Me Back to old Virginia, America, The Beautiful, The Eyes of East Central Are Upon You, closing with East Central.

The singing was probably the best we have had this year, despite the fact that many are hoarse from colds. All seemed to enter into the spirit of the occasion and enjoyed the music so much that Mr. Gordon promised a special hour some day when work will give place to a good sing.

PERFECT HEALTH IS EVERY WOMAN'S BIRTHRIGHT

Houston, Texas:—"I was in a terribly run-down condition of health after a siege of pneumonia poisoning, and then the influenza. I could not seem to regain my strength and was really not able to do my housework. I knew I needed a good tonic and builder and remembered how my folks used to regard Dr. Pierce's remedies in my girlhood days, and then I decided to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I am now taking the second bottle and it is doing me a world of good. My strength is returning rapidly and I feel better in every way."

"I am glad indeed to recommend the medicine that is doing me so much good and do not hesitate to give this statement."—Mrs. GENEVIEVE SELL, 2117 Common St.

Beaumont, Texas:—"One of my sisters became quite a sufferer periodically and would have fainting spells. She doctor'd but did not improve. Then, three years ago, a friend advised her to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It helped her right away and she has been in a healthier condition ever since that time."

"I would never hesitate a moment in recommending Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to all young girls who suffer, I have such great confidence in it, seeing how it helped her."—Mrs. MARY E. BRADEN, 1970 Harrison Ave.

When a girl becomes a woman, when a woman becomes a mother, when a woman passes through the changes of middle life, are the three periods of life when health and strength are most needed to withstand the pain and distress often caused by severe organic disturbances.

At these critical times women are best fortified by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, an old remedy of proved worth.

The small boy is not much occupied with thoughts of his clothes, except that he wants them to look like those worn by his running mates. Whether his shirtwaists, trousers or coats are made at home and from materials that have seen service before being bequeathed to him, is no concern of his. Occasionally he takes a proud satisfaction in the knowledge that he is wearing clothes that his father or uncles have worn before him, and in view of the mounting cost of his belongings these sources of supply should be considered.

Very good qualities in percales, madras and silk are used for making men's shirts, but even so the wear and tear of laundering frays out collar bands and cuffs long before the body of the shirts show any signs of wear. The frayed cuffs and collar bands are intolerable and the shirts are discarded. The soft-bodied kind are used by thrifty mothers to make waists for their small boys. Silk shirts are often made over into shirtwaists for girls or grown-up members of the family as the small boy is not outfitted with silks.

A suit with two pairs of pants will wear more than twice as long as a suit with only one pair. It is not particularly difficult to make boys' clothes. The pants, if cut by a reliable pattern, are easy. When the coat is undertaken the lining should be first cut and fitted, using a simple pattern as a guide.

Discarded shirts of percale and madras are used by many housewives for making aprons. There is a great variety of patterns for the smaller aprons that are needed by every woman who busies herself at home with housework or sewing. The designers of patterns have seen to it that a number of practical aprons are made up of several sections of cloth and this makes it easy to cut them from other garments.

THE BETTER WAY

By CECILLE LANGDON

Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union

The double marriage of Walter Dorrance and Vinnie Tresham and Frank Dolby and Rita Pearce was the event of the year at Upton. It was nothing more than a quiet, simple church wedding, but everything was in exquisite taste. Brides and grooms were great favorites with the community, youth, beauty and refinement combined to make the double union attractive and a glowing future was presaged for the happy group of four.

But for the insistence of Vinnie, her fiancé would have urged a delay in the nuptial celebration.

"The part of wisdom with us, Vinnie," he said, "would be to wait at least two years before we marry. My father's business failure and death has left me certain serious duties and responsibilities I must sacredly carry out, and during that period I can not feel fully settled and safe as to my individual business connections."

And naturally, amid the first flush of happy love and confidence Vinnie looked upon her manly, handsome fiancé as the very personification of knowledge and ability. She playfully closed her pretty pink ears as to proffered details of his business affairs.

"Whatever he said or did was right," she insisted, and for several months the lovers drifted along pleasantly, Vinnie contented to repose perfect confidence in Walter, whose judgment was undeniable to her way of thinking, and he devoted strictly to the following out of plans that would eventually through care and sacrifice and economy in placing them on a clear basis.

Walter's business called him away on the road a great deal, and he returned from a long trip to find Vinnie somehow changed. She was constantly in the company of Rita, and their chumminess had resulted in the latter gaining a great influence over her. She had inculcated Vinnie with the idea that a woman should always have her way, that Walter was too precise and careful, and it all ended in Walter finally giving way to Vinnie in the matter of anticipating their marriage by a year.

"It would be half my life's enjoyment to have a double wedding," declared Vinnie. "Remember, Walter, that Rita and I have been like sisters since we were little children, and we wish to be married at the same time."

"You shall have your wish," agreed Walter, "only it will be necessary for us to exercise great economy until all the old affairs of my father's family are settled up."

So conditions seemed fair and pleasant for the wedded couples during their honeymoon. They had found a very comfortable duplex house and it was a joy to the brides to be separated only by a party wall.

Walter noted quite a change in his wife on his return from his first business trip. She could talk of little else than the new things the Dolbys had acquired. She alluded to the liberality of Frank in a way that rather reproached Walter, and she was quite moody when they returned from spending an evening at the Dolby home.

"Just think how good Frank is to Rita," said Vinnie. "Last month he had the house all redecorated, made Rita a present of a grand victrola on her birthday, and he is talking about getting an automobile."

Hints and comparisons on the part of Vinnie grew into complaints and reproaches as time went on. The Dolbys were plunging into reckless extravagance, and it began to be so that Walter felt relieved to get away from this atmosphere of discontent on his usual trips. He had gently, but firmly told Vinnie that he had marked out a definite course, and that Frank was going beyond his depth and would end up in financial difficulties.

There was an expression of worry in Vinnie's face the day he returned from a month's absence, but he noted that she was more like her old loving self than usual, and she did not even allude to the Dolbys. She flushed up when Walter asked her about them.

"They are staying temporarily at Rita's mother," explained Vinnie. "Oh! Walter, they are in such deep trouble!"

"Why, what do you mean?" inquired Walter, but secretly he surmised the truth.

"They have had a dreadful time. Frank, it seems, bought nearly all those new things on credit. He could not meet his notes and the furniture men have foreclosed a mortgage on all they have. Oh, Walter!" and sobbing and in tears Vinnie threw herself into the arms of her husband. "I have been a wicked, covetous slaver, and I shudder when I recall how I have tried to influence you to follow in their footsteps."

"Don't reproach yourself, Vinnie," soothed Walter tenderly. "During this last trip I settled up all my father's affairs. I have not only cleared the estate of every debt, but there is left a surplus of several thousand dollars. We shall have the reward of our patience in a new and better home and I can spare enough to redeem the belongings of the Dolbys and put Frank on his feet again, hoping he has learned the lesson of keeping away from extravagance and debt."

"Oh! you wise, wise man!" whispered Vinnie brokenly, but gratefully. "And oh, your dear, good, forgiving love!"

IMPORTANT FACTS ABOUT THE NEWEST FASHION BLOUSES

by Eloise

Women delight in separate waists. Whether they call them blouses or shirt waists is of slight importance.

All that has even been invented in this old an dtraditional garment finds its place today in the exhibition. Once upon a time there were only blouses that tucked under the skirt belt, but today they are only a segment of a vast area of top garments.

As to the details of the new blouses, they are long and short, of lace, georgette, satin, chiffon, brocade, metallic cloth. Surely no one could ask more liberality of fashion than such a wide and satisfying choice.

The cost is according to the purse. The shape rarely varies except in the detail of going under or over the skirt. There are tunics that tie like in a sash about the waist, the ends so gloriously decorated or lined that they supply the ornamentation and color scheme for the frock; there are others that wrap about the hips in the fashion of a Japanese sarong and increase the sinuousness of the wearer.

It is no longer necessary to match the color of the skirt when choosing a set of blouses. That's where the buyer can get hold of plenty of variety for her one suit or separate skirt. Fashion permits us to wear French blue, Nile green, mist gray, Chinese yellow, cherry red and brilliantly embroidered black blouses with any cloth or satin skirt, provided the effect is not impossible.

Here is an illustration of the type of blouse which ends in a sash. It is fashioned of French blue crepe de chine with loose sleeves which end nearer the elbow than the wrist and a neckline which is cut high in the front and back, but far out on the shoulders. Deep cuffs and a triangular yoke are prettily embroidered in the new "rust" shade and in a silver gray tone. The blouse ends at the hips in a full draped sash which may be tied wherever the fancy chooses.

IN BED TWO YEARS AS RESULT OF PNEUMONIA

Cough left and she soon got back strength and flesh.

"I was confined to my bed for 2 years from the effects of plural pneumonia. I left me with an awful cough and bronchial trouble. Was treated by 12 different doctors with no apparent benefit."

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

MOTHER GRAY FOX.

"I can't understand these creatures," said Mother Gray Fox, "who will not be good to their children; like the snakes, for example."

"Angry."

"The fox family is part of the dog family, a nice family. It's true we hunt and we go after poultry and we're very fond of chicken dinners. But then aren't people pretty fond of chicken dinners? Of course they are; so they shouldn't scold us for liking them."

"Of course they shouldn't," said Mother Gray Fox, "for they would find us so nice and sensible and so capable and they really should ask us to their chicken dinners."

"I don't believe though," said Grandmother Fox with a sly smile, "that they ever will. They don't care to have us like chicken dinners. They're a bit selfish about their chickens and their chicken dinners."

"I should say so," said Mother Gray Fox. "They are angry when we get their chicken. Very angry, indeed. They go after us then if they get the chance."

"It is true," said Grandmother Gray Fox, "that we do not feed the chickens first as they do. They're kind to them in the first place."

"I don't know that I think it is so kind," said Mother Gray Fox, "for they only feed them so they'll be nice and plump when they eat them."

"Oh, well," said Grandmother Gray Fox, "I suppose the chickens like people better than us, for people treat them nicely when they are alive and if they're not alive they don't care so much, if they care at all, which, come to think of it, they don't."

"Dear me," said Mother Gray Fox, "I thought you never were going to finish that sentence."

"I wasn't so sure about finishing it myself," said Grandmother Gray Fox. "We not only like chickens," said Mother Gray Fox, "but we like big juicy insects and bugs. We relish mice and think that rabbits and squirrels and birds are all very good."

"Well," said Grandmother Gray Fox, "people like more than chicken dinners. They eat other dishes, too."

"Ah, but they're not ahead of us there," said Mother Gray Fox. They both stayed still for awhile, thinking and not speaking, and after a time Grandmother Gray Fox looked at Mother Gray Fox and said, "What are you thinking about?"

"I'm thinking of the three or four or five little ones who will come in the springtime. They will be so young and so helpless and they will need their mother so. They will be quite blind and they will be little blackish creatures—they won't be gray until they're older."

"They'll be born with the wonderful power to smell dangers and comforts, but even though they will have the sense of smell they will be very helpless."

"Ah, how I will watch over them and love them! I will do everything in the world for them and they will come to me in my cave den, which is now ready for them."

"You're just like all the foxes," said Grandmother Gray Fox. "We're all devoted to our young and we watch over them so carefully and see that no harm comes to them. They're such helpless little blind creatures when they're born and we make them strong and teach them how to look after themselves, but for a long, long time we watch them. I remember when you were a little helpless thing, my daughter."

"And because you were so good to me and taught me what a wonderful thing it was to have a mother, so I will try to give my little ones the same happiness and then they will want to care for their children in turn. So that foxes will be good to their young because they come by it naturally, from mother to daughter, from daughter to child!"

RICH INDIAN CAN'T KEEP WHITE WIFE

INDIAN AGENCY AT MUSKOGEE WILL ATTEMPT TO ANNUL THE MARRIAGE OF JACKSON BARNETT

COFFEYVILLE, Kan., Feb. 24.—Agovernment official from the office of Indian affairs arrived here late today to investigate the marriage of Jackson Barnett of Henryetta, Okla., a millionaire Creek Indian, and Mrs. Anna Lowe.

Barnett's affairs are handled by Carl J. O'Hornett of Henryetta, his legal guardian. The Indian, however, eloped with Mrs. Lowe Saturday and the couple were married yesterday at Coffeyville.

He Loves Her "Uh-Huh." "I love Jackson dearly and I am just as legally his wife as any woman is the wife of any man," Mrs. Barnett said as the agent prepared to take the couple back to Oklahoma.

"Jackson is not an incompetent," she said, "and I intend to fight for my rights."

The bride added that she had known Barnett "a long time." Barnett was asked if he "reciprocated" his affection for his wife. "You do, don't you Jack?" the wife interposed and Barnett replied "uh-huh."

Companions Disappear. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Moorehead of Kansas City who witnessed the ceremony had completely disappeared from Coffeyville today.

The legal machinery necessary to annul the marriage was put in operation by Indian agency officials here today. Superintendent Gabe E. Parker declared that the agency had found a precedent of a similar case in Okmulgee county.

COFFEYVILLE, Kan., Feb. 24.—"I love him and will not give him up," Mrs. Jackson Barnett, nee Anna Laura Lowe or Ida Bartell, is reported to have said today when asked about her flight across the Oklahoma state border and marriage to Jackson Barnett. Millionaire, Indian incompetent.

Under the surveillance of officers the Barnetts, who were married here Monday afternoon, are staying in a hotel here, firm in their determination to "stick together."

Impending clouds threaten an early squall on their sea of matrimony. Barnett's guardian is hurrying here to begin action to return the Indian and the new wife to Henryetta where it is understood he will ask to have the marriage annulled. Prosecution of the bride is also thought likely.

Their marriage here late yesterday followed a wild motor car ride from Barnett's home in Henryetta, Okla., where it is alleged the groom was "kidnapped," doped and hauled off to his wedding.

Barnett is 70 and his bride, who appears to be under 40, gave her age as 51.

The "eloping" couple were accompanied to Coffeyville by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Moorehead of Tulsa, who obtained the marriage license. Early today Moorehead and wife took the "bridal car" and disappeared.

MUSKOGEE, OKLA., Feb. 24.—Immediate return to this state of Jackson Barnett, millionaire incompetent Indian, who was taken from his home by a woman who gave her name as Emma Laura Lowe, and who was married to the woman in Coffeyville, Kan., Monday afternoon, is being sought by Carl J. O'Hornett of Henryetta, Barnett's guardian, according to Indian Superintendent Gabe Parker of this city.

Parker is working under the direction of Cato Sells, Indian commissioner of Washington, who is directing the "dis-entangling" process. Barnett's marriage involves a legal tangle of contemplated gifts totalling nearly $1,000,000.

Upon Barnett's return to the state steps will be taken to annul the "leap year" marriage, and if possible, prosecution of the woman on a kidnapping charge probably will follow, Parker said. At this time O'Hornett, guardian, is fighting the legal battle for Barnett's return to the state and he has gone to pick up the trail of the Indian and woman.

Waiting for Summertime

IN the showing of spring and summer clothes for very little girls we are distracted between the contemplation of sheer little frocks that bespeak "dress up" wear and numerous ingeniously designed rompers that foretell good times both in and out of doors. Fashion smiles on hand sewing and as a result we find hemstitching, fancy stitching and fine hand-run tucks. Black and white stitchery is used for decorating little frocks and rompers and by way of adding another charm, tiny figures of animals done in cross-stitch in colors often appear on the belt.

A good many of the rompers are made with waists and knickerbockers separate and buttoned together. By this management two pairs of knickers may be allowed each waist, and white waists worn with colored knickers. Checked gingham is combined with plain chambray both in dresses and rompers, the body being of the plain material and the skirt or knicker of the check. The small checks are very popular and pretty and show all the different spring colors combined with white in checks. One of the simplest and most effective decorations on children's clothes is easily made by using heavy embroidery still in white or a light color, and couching it on in different designs, with the mercerized cotton floss in black.

The most interesting thing about these clothes for play is the variety and ingenuity of cut in rompers. Some of them have the "peg top" of trousers, some of them look just like "Dutchman's breeches," and others look much like skirts. As ingenious and pleasing as any are rompers suits in which knickerbockers and waists are cleverly made together, as in the example shown above. This is made more attractive by a little frill about the neck and on the cuffs and a tucked panel at the front ending under a belt that slips under the plaits at each side. These extra fur-below make the garment distinctly a little girl's affair.

Thrice welcome to the pretty sun-bonnet that tops off these rompers! It should never be banished, for it is washable and cool.

Overland

The Way Bumps Look The Way Bumps Ride

Wonderful Riding Qualities in Coast-to-Coast Trip

ON rough highways and desert trails, in sunshine and storm, the Overland 4, Four-Door Sedan blazed the trail for the U. S. Army Pioneer Motor Transport Train from Washington to San Francisco. This plucky car was ever in the lead.

It was still another convincing demonstration of the wonderful riding ease of three-point suspension Triplex Springs.

Cushioned by these Springs from the shocks of rutted, rocky, torn-up roads, the Overland 4 glided along with a smoothness never before enjoyed in a light weight car.

Dr. Johnson, official lecturer for the Lincoln Highway Association, rode the entire distance from coast to coast in the Overland 4 Sedan. He pays this splendid tribute to its exceptional performance:

"I found the Overland 4 Sedan so suited to my needs that I rode in it from choice all the way. It must be the new spring arrangement, for even when the roads were rough I came to the night stops without fatigue. It is a marvel of ease and comfort."

THE WORKERS.

"They don't speak correctly," said Wenna Work.

"Who don't speak correctly?" asked Willie Work. "You don't really speak correctly yourself, if you will pardon my saying so."

"And why not?" asked Wenna Work. "Because you do not tell me who you mean when you say that 'they' don't speak correctly," said Willie Work.

"But I don't speak incorrectly in not telling you," said Wenna. "I merely leave out something that I might tell."

"All right," said Willie, who was afraid he might get into an argument which would make him appear far more stupid than Wenna. "All right," he repeated, "we'll leave that end of the subject alone."

"But now, pray tell me, whom do you really mean by 'they'?"

"I mean that people don't speak correctly," said Wenna.

"What do they say that isn't correct?" asked Willie.

"They say that they have work on their hands," said Wenna. "Oh, often I've heard some one telling some one else: 'Gracious me, my dear, I have so much work on hand that I don't know when I will be through.'"

"Now, that is entirely incorrect," said Wenna. "We are two of the workers of the world. We are two of the little creatures who make people work, who put work before them or behind them, or at the side of them, which they know they should do."

"We let them know that they should be busy and not idle. We let them know in so many, many ways, of so many, many different kinds of work for them to do."

"But we do not put the work right on their hands. That is incorrect. So when they speak of having so much work on their hands they really mean that there is a great deal of work which isn't on their hands but which they should put their hands upon and their time and their minds."

"So, I've been trying to whisper to some of my workers to tell other workers and have all tell the people that we would like it if they spoke correctly."

"Still," said Willie, "the work is often on their hands, fancy work, needle work, all kinds of sewing, lots of things!"

"I'm speaking," said Wenna severely, "of the work which is not on their hands but which is all around them and which they have to do, or should do."

"I see," said Willie, in an obedient little voice.

"You always were far better natured than I was," said Wenna. "That is, I am good-natured enough, but you are easier with folks than I am.

"Often on Their Hands."

"You are the little creature who will whisper to them: 'Yes, leave that until tomorrow. That will be all right. Why tire yourself out today when there is tomorrow and all the tomorrows ahead of you? Why work so hard; life isn't worth it.'"

"But I say: 'Work, work, work, and the more you work the happier you will be, for you will work for great things, and you will work to be fine and famous.'"

"Still," said Willie, "as we are the creatures who make folks work and who put work before them, sometimes it is nice to give them a holiday, don't you think so?"

"To be sure," said Wenna, "but you would give them holidays oftener than I would."

"You would hardly ever give any," said Willie.

"Oh, yes," said Wenna, "I'd give Thanksgiving day and Christmas day and the Fourth of July and quite a number of other times."

"Nonsense," said Willie. "You're the sort who is always seeing work for people to do. If it weren't for me they'd be all tired out."

"That's why we're a good pair," said Wenna. "I'm one of the creatures who make folks work hard, and you're one who makes them work but who also tells them to stop before they're all tired out."

"Yes, we are a good pair," said Willie. "Folks are safe in our hands, or, guided by what we say and what we tell them to do."

I HAD to go in.

ABOUT AN advertisement.

AND HE was busy.

UP ON a ladder.

PULLING DOWN shoes.

AND HE had a customer.

AND SHE was a lady.

REAL NICE looking.

AND KIND of young like.

AND SHE was sitting.

ON ONE of the benches.

AND A lot of shoes.

WERE SCATTERED about.

AND I noticed.

AS I came in.

THAT SHE had.

ONE OF her shoes off.

AND THERE was a hole.

A REAL big hole.

IN THE toe of the stocking.

AND WHEN she saw me.

SHE LOOKED flustered.

AND DREW in her foot.

IN A big hurry.

AND I went up to her.

AND WE started talking.

ABOUT SOMETHING or other.

AND I could see.

THAT SHE wished.

I'D GO AWAY.

UNTIL MR. Moser.

HAD PUT on the shoe.

BUT I didn't.

AND JUST stood there.

AND DIRECTLY.

HE CAME down the ladder.

AND SAT down.

ON THE little bench.

IN FRONT of her.

AND TOLD her.

TO HOLD out her foot.

AND SHE took the shoe.

AND FELT of it.

AND KEPT on talking.

BUT JUST the same.

I STILL stood there.

AND AFTER a while.

SHE EVIDENTLY realized.

THAT I was anchored.

AND SHE put out her foot.

AND THE hole.

AND HER toes.

AND EVERYTHING.

AND WAS red in the face.

AND I stood there.

AND I ought to have had.

BETTER SENSE.

BUT I didn't.

I THANK you.

Perhaps so, but had to start some time. If he hadn't saved enough money in his younger days to acquire a few oil leases how could he have made a fortune in oil? If he hadn't saved for the future where would he have acquired the start that resulted in the fortune he has today?

It couldn't be all luck.

What Is The Reason?

THE following letter explains the reason why Foley Kidney Pills have such a widespread and constantly increasing sale. It is written by Mrs. Chas. Gray, 270 Sixth St., Detroit, Mich.:

"I must say I have gotten such good results from Foley Kidney Pills that I can sleep much better and the pain in my back and sides is a good lot better. I have never had the results from other medicines that I have gotten from Foley Kidney Pills."

Thousands of letters like the above have been received by Foley and Co. These letters tell how the writers have been benefited and helped to health. They explain the ever-growing demand for

Foley Kidney Pills

The kidneys are blood filters that pick out from the blood certain waste products which would act as poisons, together with enough water to dissolve them and wash them out of the body. When the kidneys are out of order, these impurities are not removed from the blood and they remain to poison the system, causing backache, swollen or stiff joints, rheumatic pains and even more serious complaints. Minor symptoms of kidney trouble are puffiness under eyes, floating specks, dry mouth, biliousness, weakness, and pale, waxy dry skin. When the kidneys give any indication of weakness or derangement, they should receive aid at once.

Foley Kidney Pills strengthen and invigorate weak, inactive sluggish kidneys. When the kidneys and bladder properly perform their functions, poisonous waste is removed from the system and sound, good health naturally follows.

It Pays The Farmer To Advertise In The News

How may the producer and consumer be brought closer together? This question has received a great deal of attention since the high cost of living became the problem of the day. When I was in the newspaper business I often suggested that a most excellent means of accomplishing this was for the producer to advertise his products in the columns of the local paper. Since becoming a producer myself, I have fully demonstrated the correctness of my opinion through the Evening News.

Four months ago when my wife and I took up our abode on Hoot Owl Ranch we began to advertise our products, when we had anything we could not dispose of readily, or when we had a surplus of any particular product. Never once have we failed to get good returns on the few cents each little ad cost. That, too, in the face of the fact that we had no phone. After installing a phone and we could be reached easily, sales were still better. It is evident that every line in the Evening News is read and that consumers are eager to buy produce fresh from the producer and all the more readily when they know who the producer is. Yes, advertising pays good dividends and can be used to the best possible advantage in bringing producer and consumer together.

WOULD CRIPPLE BIG WESTERN CARRIERS

Western Chambers of Commerce are alarmed at a provision of the bill to turn the railroads back to their owners, allowing fifty per cent of the net earnings over 5 1-2 per cent to be diverted to weak roads.

The money earned in prosperous railroads in the west above the 5 1-2 per cent would be sent out of the states where it was earned to develop railroad properties that could not earn that income.

Capital invested in farm mortgages is earning from 6 to 8 per cent. Other industrial and business securities are earning from 7 to 25 per cent.

Under such condition who is going to invest in railroad securities at 5 1-2 per cent as proposed by Congress and where and how is the capital to be obtained to keep transportation facilities abreast of the fast growing demands of industry and commerce?

Hungerford in the Saturday Evening Post shows that we are now 600,000 freight cars, 20,000 passenger cars and 20,000 locomotives short of the requirements of business and industries.

This is a matter that concerns all the people. Already the commerce of the country taxes the railroads to their capacity and almost everywhere shippers are complaining of their inability to obtain sufficient cars.

Why not have railroad building and railroad development proceed on natural lines instead of compulsory consolidations and enforced amputations and financial strangulations?

Why should the great transcontinental lines be crippled by injecting academic theories into the laws under which they are to be rehabilitated after several years of impoverishment under government mismanagement?

Confiscating earnings above 5 1-2 per cent, even for the purpose of maintaining a free dispensary for wild-cat lines which would never have been built, destroys the incentive of all lines to efficiently operate and make it difficult if not impossible for the best operated roads to obtain necessary capital. What but disaster can result?

Strange that no senator has charged the epidemic of Influenza to President Wilson. You know we never had such epidemics before Wilson entered the white House.

The jitney war in Muskogee is ended. An armistice was signed before General Barrett could mobilize and before the governor could find those overalls.

All typographical errors are not so bad. For instance the one that converts "Any bolshevist will bear watching" into "Any bolshevist will bear washing."

Our government could soon pay the national debt if it would only pay our senators for their speeches by the square yard instead of by the cubic yard.

An esteemed Oklahoma contemporary says that "them senators and representatives who beat equal suffrage in the Mississippi legislature is illiterate."

If the special session of the legislature goes on a strike, it will be up to the governor to dig up those cast-off overalls and legislate himself.

Watch your step and also where you spit. Miscellaneous spitting on sidewalks and in public places is not only indecent, but it is unhealthy as well.

There is no prettier town in the state than Ada, size considered. All it needs to be presentable to the most exacting prospector is street paving. Let's wake up and get in the big town class.

Prohibition has wrought a great saving to public officials, especially enforcement officers. The custom now is to capture the stuff wherever they can and pour it out—into their own jugs.

There is only one argument made against paving the streets of this city, and that is the argument that it costs money. Is that argument when it is an open and shut fact that it increases the value of the property twice what it costs to do the paving?

COUNTY COMMISSIONER
1st District
OTTO STRICKLAND
H. C. STEPHENS

INCOME TAX FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW

In these days of high rentals and excessive cost of maintenance and upkeep, both landlords and tenants are inquiring as to their allowable deductions in the filing of an income-tax return.

Where property is held for renting purposes the owner may deduct the cost of securing tenants, such as commissions to real estate agents, advertising, etc., and the expenses of maintenance, such as ordinary repairs, lights, fuel, janitor service, and insurance. If the owner occupies part of the building as his dwelling, the expenses must be apportioned, and only those relating to the part which is rented may be deducted.

A tenant may deduct the rent paid for business premises, but not his home, which is a personal or living expense.

Additional Rental
Taxes paid by a tenant to or for a landlord for business property are additional rent and are deductible by the tenant. Such items represent income to the landlord, and therefore must be included in his return of gross income, but may be claimed by him, also, as a deduction. The cost of erecting buildings or permanent improvements on ground leased by a taxpayer is additional rental and therefore deductible from gross income, provided such buildings and improvements revert to the owner of the ground at the expiration of the lease. In such cases the cost of the improvement may be prorated over the term of the lease so that a proportionate amount will be deducted in each year of the tenancy. Having deducted the cost of such buildings as rental, the lessee is not allowed a deduction for depreciation but the cost of ordinary repairs necessary to their maintenance and up-keep is an allowable item.

When at the expiration of the lease such property reverts to the owner of the land its value is considered taxable income to the landlord for the year in which received.

Depreciation Allowance.
Under the heading of "Depreciation," owners are permitted the deduction of "a reasonable amount for the exhaustion, wear and tear of property used in trade or business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence." This deduction must be made as a separate item of the return and must be explained by showing separately each class of property, its cost or value at the date of purchase (on or before Mar. 1, 1913, if acquired on or before that date), estimated life, depreciation charged for the taxable year, and total depreciation charged for all taxable years. To be allowed the amount claimed for depreciation must be charged off the books of the taxpayer, either by deducting it directly from the book value of the assets or crediting it to a depreciation reserve fund so that it will be reflected in the annual balance sheet.

Depreciation may be claimed on all business property, which includes not only buildings but machinery of a permanent character, automobiles, farm tractors, mine and mill equipment, office furniture, and books. The rates at which depreciation is allowed are not fixed by the law or regulations and are determined by the circumstances governing each particular case. The ordinary method is by determining the lifetime of the property and dividing its cost by the number of years it will be usable in the business in which employed.

Deductions for depreciation are limited strictly to property used in the taxpayer's trade or business. No such allowances are made for automobiles or other vehicles used chiefly for pleasure, the taxpayer's trade or business. No such allowances are made for automobiles or other vehicles used chiefly for pleasure, the taxpayer's dwelling, nor the furnishings therein, personal effects, or clothing. Property or clothing used exclusively in a theatrical business, however, may be the subject of a depreciation allowance.

Intangible property, the use of which in trade or business is definitely limited in duration, may be made the claim for a depreciation allowance. Examples are patents, copyrights, licenses, and franchises. Intangibles, the use of which is not so limited, will not usually be the proper subject of such an allowance.

I want to thank my many friends for their kindly remembrances in many ways, during the recent illness of my daughters, Violet Marie and Eva Dorothy. "Along your pathway may the sunlight of God's blessings ever shine." This is the prayer, and hope of a humble but appreciative heart like mine.

STEEPLE-CHASING UP-TO-DATE

"Taking the hedge."

The above stunt created considerable interest at the recent annual horse show of the Denver, Colo., Country Club. The auto camouflaged somewhat as a "steed," with driver dressed as a jockey, ran up an incline sailed over a hedge at an elevation of fifteen feet and landed on the decline. The driver had the jump figured mathematically. Going up the runway at twenty miles an hour, he spanned the gap and landed with the rear wheels at the edge of the landing.

The State Press

Muskogee Phoenix: That day now seems near when what women do will be regarded as of more importance than what they wear.

Muskogee Phoenix: Why is a man who lets his hair and whiskers grow long called eccentric when damphead is so much easier to say?

Konawa Chief-Leader: Tombstones are up 30 per cent, and just at a time when so many persons believe life ceased to be worth living on January 16th.

Vinita Journal: We believe that when the first Democratic senate caucus failed to come to an agreement to ratify the woman's suffrage amendment that the members were only holding out for a few more smiles and kind words from the fair "suffs" who are in Oklahoma City lobbying for the passage of the amendment. There is small chance of the amendment being defeated, is the prediction of this paper. But of course statesmen and lawmakers must act with caution and due deliberation.

Muskogee Times-Democrat: Judge "Bob" Williams theory that a man who introduces drinking liquor for his own use is guilty in a different degree from the man who introduces liquor for sale will find approval in the minds of a vast number of sturdy Americans who have a strong faith in personal liberty. The man who brings in liquor believes he has that right, regardless of the words of the law. Nobody has any respect for the man who brings in liquor and sells it for a profit. It is purely a matter of desire for gain with him. Even the man who buys liquor from the bootlegger really despises him. Both may be equally guilty under the law, but not in the minds of most men.

Oklahoma City Times: Addressing the National Drygoods association, Howard E. Figg rated profiteering as least of the causes of high prices. He is undoubtedly right in his conclusion. There is competition still. Merchants are as fair and honorable as ever, which means that they are as fair and honorable as the human average. In a great measure the competition and the honor of the great majority serve to check the predatory one. But much money, high wages and reduced production make higher prices inevitable. As currency is contracted and output increased, there doubtless will come a decline in prices. It will not come suddenly and it should not. But as matters stand now the best hope of the individual to help himself and the country lies in increasing production and practicing reasonable economy. That means to do an honest day's work; to work a full week and render that loyal service which is rightfully expected of those who take a wage for any occupation. It means buying intelligently, rather than extravagantly. The people must help themselves and cease depending on the orators and theorists.

PRAYER MEETING AT THE CHURCH OF CHRIST

Our prayer meeting and bible class was well attended Wednesday evening. Our lesson, the two women Hagar and Sarah, was very interesting. They were shown to represent two church convicts. The one is from Mount Sinai, the Jewish covenant; the other is from Jerusalem above, the new Christian Constitution or covenant, first promulgated and sealed in Jerusalem, one flesh the other spirit. Hagar was the bond woman representing the bondage of the Jewish covenant; Sarah was the free woman representing the new constitution of covenant and the freedom that all the members of the Church of Christ enjoy. The significance of Jacob's ladder Gen. 28:10-22, was very interesting.

The Story of Joseph, Gen. 37 to 41, will be our next lesson.

We are delighted to have you present, and especially those who are not members of the Church of Christ. Your feelings as well as your views will be respected. Come. We meet each Wednesday evening at 7:30 at the Church of Christ on East Main Street.

A. L. Elkins, Minister.

THE MERE WHY

By Harry Hampton Williams

It isn't because you gambled, friend,
The big world gives you a sneer and a frown,
The world doesn't care for the gambling at all,
Many a gambler they have given a crown;
But this is the reason, my dear, good friend,
They greet you so like a chilling frost,
It isn't at all that you gambled, friend
It is simply that you lost.

It isn't because of your brawling, friend,
The old world glares so grim at you,
The world doesn't care for the wickedest fight,
Where the brawlers are beaten black and blue;
But this is the reason they hoot and they jeer,
Mocking your brow with a tinsel crown;
It isn't at all of the brawling, my friend,
It is merely—you went down.

The world doesn't praise that you tried to climb
To the crest of the mountain up yonder, there,
Where the clouds drift on in blissful dreams
Through silver shimmers and golden air;
That isn't the reason you're scoffed in the street
Till your heart has ached and your spirit quailed,
The world doesn't care that you tried to climb,
But it shames you that you failed.

A Popular Candidate.

No campaign ever made in this State has met with such instant and wide-spread approval as the candidacy of Hon. Scott Ferris for Senator Gore's present seat in the United States Senate. The reasons for Ferris' undeniable and sweeping popularity are not based altogether on the emphatic disapproval of Senator Gore's war record by the Democratic men and women voters of Oklahoma although that has been apparent and outspoken in every county convention and State gathering held this year.

Scott Ferris, himself, has earned a large share of his present popularity. His fourteen years of capable and loyal service, and his steady growth in that time into national influence and leadership by honest and painstaking devotion to duty is the real foundation on which his present favor in the public esteem is embedded.

Add to this splendid record for faithful and loyal service to all the people of Oklahoma and to his Government in time of stress and peril, the fact that he has a winning personality, a boyish sincerity and enthusiasm, and a frank and outspoken sympathy, and an understanding for the needs and desires of his fellowmen, and you can easily understand why every really Democratic voter and a great many Republicans have hailed his candidacy with an enthusiasm and satisfaction that has made his campaign already remarkable for its promise of overwhelming victory.

We have had other popular candidates, but none of them have equalled the enthusiasm with which Scott Ferris has been welcomed in every county of the State by both the press and the people.

The half ruined temple of Vishnu, the second god of the Hindu triad, is the most imposing and magnificent of the special settings built for Nazimova's newest screen production, "Stronger Than Death," coming to the Liberty Theatre. Centuries before the opening of this temple in India was surrounded by a wall higher than the tallest man and built of stone blocks, two feet in thickness. The wall was 200 feet in length and half that in width. Now the wall is out of repair, and in some places has been torn down by the natives, who found other uses for the heavy stone blocks.

Mid-Winter Reclamation Work

By Norman E. Brown

When a big league player is given the well known can it can't really be said he is "starring in sports," but the fact that he has given baseball tenor twelve years of his life, much of that time as a real star in the big league, entitles him to mention as he hits the trail.

We speak now particularly of Al Demaree, cartoonist-pitcher. Demaree was released unconditionally by the Braves the other day. Besides being a good pitcher he was one of the most popular legends ever signed up for a major league season.

Demaree broke into pro baseball with the Columbus Miss. club in the Cotton States league in 1908 and stepped up to the big show when the Giants bought him from Mobile in the Southern league in 1912. He played a part in the winning of the championship by the Giants in 1912 and 1913 and, going to the Phils in a trade for Adams, Lobert and Stock in the winter of 1914-15, got in more world series money by helping the Quakerits cop the flag in 1915. After the 1916 season he was traded to the Cubs for Pitcher Lavender and $5,000 in cash.

In the middle of the 1917 season the Giants decided to get him back and traded Pete Kilduff for him. He leased by the Giants again at the end with the Braves at the opening of the 1918 season, he picked up the 1919 campaign. He has been a winning pitcher most of his career in the big league. In the off months Demaree drew cartoons for eastern papers.

DO ALL MY HOUSEWORK

Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could hardly stand, says Mrs. Kwarcinski.

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered with displacement and irregularities and I did not know what to do. My mother advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and use the Sanative Wash so I took her advice and used these remedies and cured myself. I feel fine and do all my housework which I could not do before, as I could hardly stand up and I have three healthy children. You can use this letter if you wish, for your remedy is certainly wonderful for sick, run down women."—Mrs. A. KWARCINSKI, 3837 W. Oakdale Ave., Chicago, Ill.

For forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been making women strong and well, relieving backache, nervousness, ulceration, and inflammation, weakness, displacements, irregularities and periodic pains. It has also proved invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the Change of Life. Women who suffer are invited to write for free and helpful advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. WOMEN'S CLOTHES TO COST MORE IN SPRING

NEW YORK, Feb. '5.—Women who thought last season that the soaring cost of clothes had reached its crest and were expecting easier shopping in the spring are to have a sad awakening. Spring and summer apparel, C. H. D. Robbins, vice president of the dress association of America, explained will be 25 to 40 percent higher. He said:

The increased cost is due to natural causes. Materials have increased in cost from 50 to 75 percent since last season. I believe that women are going to have far fewer unused dresses and suits and hats and slippers."

Rivals for Our Favor

IT TAKES less time than formerly to introduce new ideas in women's apparel of any kind. In the displays of new underthings we find knickerbockers likely to supersede petticoats and petti-brockers—their rivals for favor with women. All three are in the race, the time-honored silk petticoat for street wear, the newly popular knickerbockers and that compromise that stands between the two—the petti-brockers—which is merely the knickerbocker with flounces at the bottom to simulate a petticoat.

The knickerbockers have arrived at that point of popularity where their name is abbreviated to "knickers," and they are shown with camisoles in wash satin, crepe de chine and wash silks, to take the place of the chemise. In dark colors they replace petticoats, and when worn with camisoles make it possible to dispense with the chemise altogether. This is a point that is worth considering by stout women.

Even though they are gathered about the waist on an elastic band, the silks are so light and soft that they are no bulky, and the same is true of batiste petticoats and a pair of knickerbockers in dark colored satin, shown in the picture above, are among the practical things for street wear that are interesting women just now. The skirt fits smoothly about the hips and is bordered at the bottom with a band of ribbon, which can hardly be called a flounce because its fullness is so scant. It is wide enough to be comfortable. But it suffers a little by comparison with knickerbockers. There is no question of width in them, and they do not fray out at the bottom or accumulate dust.

AMERICA MUST EITHER NATIONALIZE OR SELL ITS SHIPS, DECLARES SHIPPING BOARD HEAD

The finance cabinet of the Democratic National Committee.

John Barton Payne, head of the shipping board, at right, testifying before senate commerce committee regarding sale of German merchant ships and passenger vessels.

Appearing before the senate commerce committee investigating the sale of former German liners by the shipping board, Chairman John Barton Payne of the board said the U. S. must nationalize the shipping industry or permit the sale of all ships on hand. The board cannot, he said, expect private operators to maintain vessels in specified trade routes unless the government guarantees them against loss. If the ships are to be sold the sale must take place before prices drop. Sale of the passenger vessels was stopped by the board because of opposition to the plan, but the merchant vessels will be disposed of, it is said.

PONTOTOC COUNTY SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

By A. FLOYD, County Superintendent

The Fitzhugh grade boys played their first game of basketball February 6 with the Dolberg team. The home boys won by a score of 10 to 5. The boys however expect to do better next time when they play at Dolberg. Also they played Roff on the 13th at Roff. The game was hard fought and only in the last part of the game did the Roff boys forge ahead winning by a score of 30 to 17. The home boys feel that they made a good showing against the Roff teams, as the Roff team was composed mostly of high school boys.

That boys and girls should attend Sunday School has been emphasized at school a number of times until the Sunday School here has an attendance of about 80 composed mostly of boys and girls. The children are given some credit for such work and good attendance.

The parents of today must cooperate with the teachers in every thing, especially the question of "obedience." What is the cause of the wave of crime and lawlessness that is sweeping the country like wild fire? Numerous explanations have been offered for it. We cannot charge it to bolshevism or alcohol, since the former is merely and incident in our national life, while the latter has been dethroned. It seems plain that America is reaping the results of the carelessness and irresponsibility of parents who have failed to teach their children obedience and respect for law and order in the home. There are more men now than ever before in our penitentiaries and death houses. Today every form of dishonesty is practiced and among all classes from the bottom to the top.

This disregard for law and order started in infancy. It began when parents were too lazy, too indifferent and selfish to teach their children obedience for their own sake. The professional crook began his career when a child. He discovered that he could take money from his mother's purse without being punished. The murderer formed brutal habits of thinking of giving away to his temper when he was permitted to beat his little brother or the boy next door.

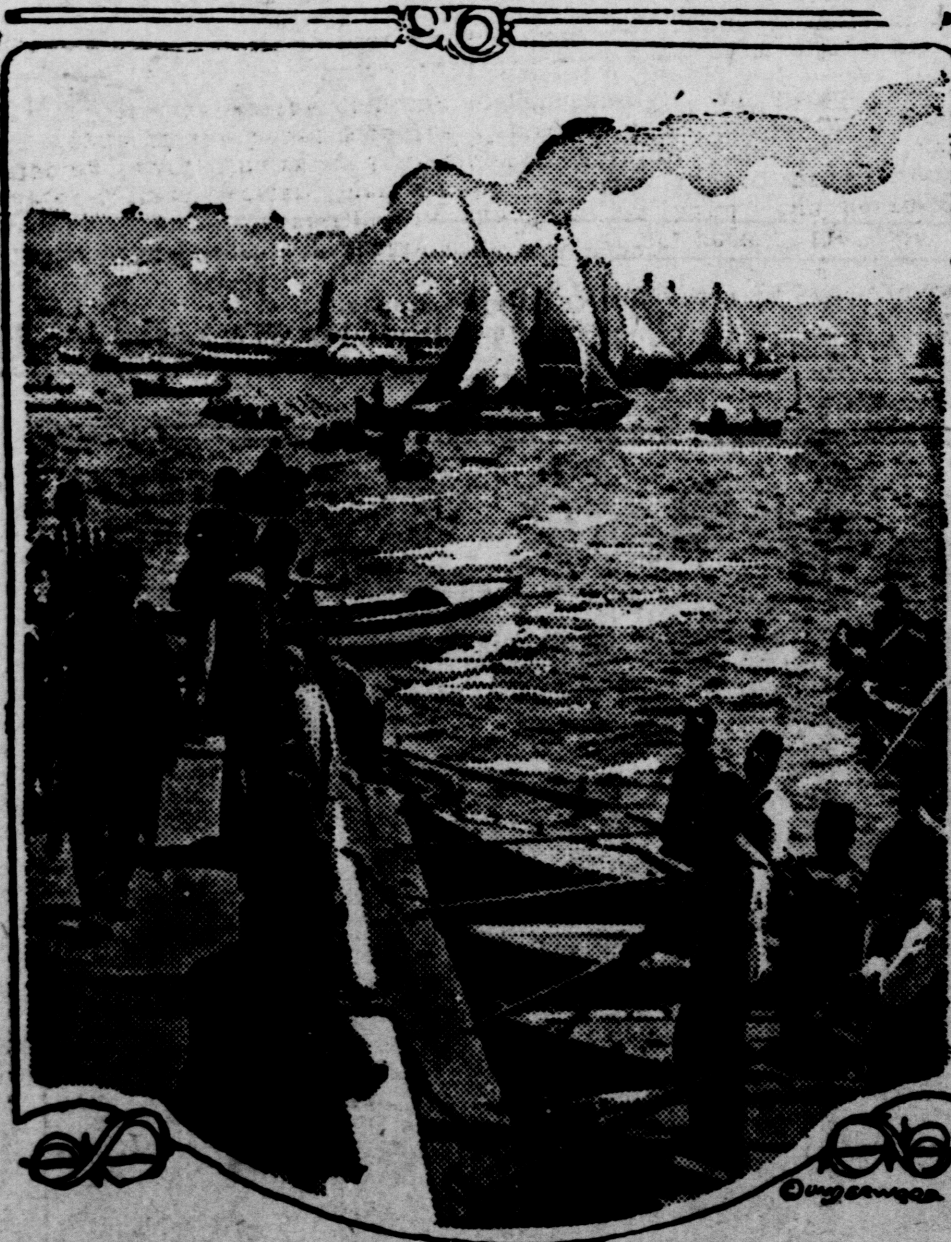

When a mother says "I can't do any thing with Johnny," she has started a young criminal on his road. Children are generally allowed to go when and where ever they desire. If the parents of this country don't get down to business and stay at home long enough to teach their children that obedience must be the first law of their existence, that honesty, decency and clean living are to be valued above everything, then we are destined in the near future to experience a far worse crime wave than we are struggling with now. Let everyone make a supreme effort to improve the coming men and women of our great country—By John Garrison.

Mrs. Sada Lamb, assistant teacher of Pecan Grove has resigned to accept a position with her husband in a mercantile establishment in Texas. Miss Thelma Auten of the E. C. S. N. has been employed as assistant teacher.

The Pecan Grove girl's basketball team played the Ahlosa team last week. Pecan Grove won by a big majority. However, both teams did good playing, which was very interesting to the spectators as well as the players.

The following patrons of the school who visited us the past week were: Mrs. Sawyer and Mr. W. H. Howard.

question, in which the opponents of the measure vied with one another in depicting the horrors of negro domination which the amendment would force upon southern states, Ben F. Harrison of Calvin brought the talk to an end by reading the telegram from President Wilson urging immediate ratification. A motion was made that the committee of the whole report that the resolution pass, and within five minutes the roll call was in progress.

Senate Opponents Confident
Speakers favoring ratification including W. V. Biddison, L. C. McNabb, D. A. Stovall, Tom C. Wal-drep, and C. H. Ruth. Those favoring the defeat of ratification or submission of the question to vote of the people this year for an expression of opinion by them before taking action at the regular session next year included Lon Morris and W. W. Pryor. W. L. Cheatham and Asa E. Walden spoke against ratification yesterday morning.

Anti-suffrage senators said last night they were sure of enough votes in the upper house of the legislature to defeat the emergency clause, which requires a two-thirds majority, and they had a chance of defeating the resolution itself. If it passes, they said, it will be by a majority of only one or two votes. Members of both houses and senate who favor suffrage declared themselves greatly encouraged at the large majority given the resolution yesterday in the house of representatives.

The anti-suffrage fight in the senate is expected, will be made tomorrow when the resolution reaches its final reading and is brought up for a vote.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 26th.—Only routine reading of bills was on schedule when the house and senate met today for the fourth day of the special session of the legislature. The house came to order at 1 o'clock and the senate at 1:30. The ratification resolution passed late yesterday by the house will not come to a vote in the senate until tomorrow, according to the present legislative schedule.

Spring Term at the Normal Begins Tuesday Student Welfare Raised

The spring term of the Normal will begin next Tuesday with the enrollment of new students on Monday. The term just closing has been very satisfactory in enrollment the management reports, there being an increase of 20 percent over the enrollment of the winter term last year. The work of the school has been very satisfactory in many respects but the attendance has been broken into by calls for teachers. "I can safely say that there has not been a week," said President Gordan in speaking of the matter "since the opening of the term last fall, but there have been insistent calls for teachers. School officers have written letters, called on the telephone, wired us, and have come in person in an endeavor to man their schools with teachers. An exceedingly sad feature of the situation is that oftentimes inexperienced and almost wholly unqualified people have to go to take charge of the schools. But the Normal is doing its utmost to help out in the matter."

The Student Welfare fee which has been $2 a term since it was inaugurated six years ago is being raised to $3 in all the Normal schools of the state beginning with the spring term. The increased cost of all athletic equipment and contests and other extra-curriculum activities is given as the reason for the change.

The Liberty
E. T. White presents the "Rainbow Girls, Singers, dancers, and comedians, in an entire change of programme every day."
The screen today offers a Paramount Comedy, "23 1-2 Hours Leave." Stirring adventures without the gruesome war scenes, but hearty laughs in their place.

The American.
The screen at the American Theatre today offers Grace Davenport & Conway Tearle in "Atonement". This is a story from real life with real actors who know how to make the characters real. There is something human about this picture that strongly illustrates the famous quotation, "It is human to err, but divine to forgive."

OVERLAND FOUR WILL JUMP AT SHOW IN MARCH

Demonstration that an automobile can jump as high or higher than a horse will be made by E. Linn Mathewson as a feature attraction at the Oklahoma City Automobile show, March 22 to 27. Work has been started already on the equipment.

The stunt requires two platforms. One is an inclined plane and the second a flat platform. Mathewson will drive his car at great speed up the inclined plane, and leap across the gap onto the second platform, which will be at least six feet high.

The feat was first perfected at the Denver horse show a short time ago. Motion pictures were taken and shown all over the United States. Three cars were smashed before the proper speed for the stunt was discovered. Experts at the University of Colorado estimated that the car landed on the second platform with a force of 42,000 pounds.

Mathewson is an old-time racing driver and was one of the first men in the United States to learn to fly an airplane.

He will perform the feat twice daily at the automobile show—probably at 1 o'clock and 7 o'clock in the afternoon.

"TWENTY THREE AN A HALF HOURS LEAVE" AT LIBERTY

Some notable scenes of the army camp life have been accurately portrayed in "Twenty-three and a Half Hours' Leave," the motion picture adapted from Mary Roberts Rinehart's magazine story in which Doris May and Douglas McLean, the new Ince stars make their debut at the Liberty Theatre today. To secure realism in the episodes, Mr. Ince made arrangements with the commanding officer of Camp MacArthur at San Pedro, Cal., to make the scenes there. The C. O. even assisted in directing a large part of

Woodman, Woodman, spare that tree

Don't try to chop expenses in furnishing your clothes tree and expect it to bear fruit.

To look good you must look to good clothes and since the prices of poor garments are so high you should be all the more careful.

All wool—that's the stuff. Hand tailoring—that's your style.

Clothes that combine the two cost more of course, but they give more.

This store is still hanging on to old standards and high qualities for dear life. So for goodness sake don't you let go.

You'll find good clothes here at fair prices. You'll like our way of showing them, too.

the action and had several companions of soldiers act as extras.

The story is said to be packed with laughs and deals with the misadventures of a certain Sergeant Grey, who falls in love with the daughter of the Colonel of his regiment. It is in no sense of the word a "war picture" and not a single gun is exploded in its five reels. The fact that the fun is against a khaki background is merely incidental.
